Weltman, Weinberg & Reis Co., LPA

Angela's blend of professional expertise and community engagement makes her a well-rounded and approachable advocate for her clients. She ensures that they are well-prepared to adapt to the changing landscape.

Angela is an experienced attorney at Weltman, focusing on consumer collections. With a unique perspective gained from her six years defending consumers in debt settlement, Angela brings invaluable insights to her work with businesses and financial institutions. Her dual-state litigation experience in Ohio and Kentucky allows her to offer practical, adaptable strategies for efficient debt recovery.

Angela's practice primarily serves businesses and financial institutions seeking to recover outstanding consumer debt. She understands that efficient and ethical debt collection plays a vital role in supporting businesses' ability to maintain favorable lending rates for their customers.

Known for her intelligence, kindness, and unwavering dedication, Angela is firmly committed to maintaining the highest standards while advocating for her clients. Her comprehensive understanding of the legal landscape allows her to provide practical and fair solutions.

Outside of the office, Angela is actively involved in her community. She supports her church for the Greek festival, volunteers as a precinct election official in Delaware County, and previously taught a U.S. Government course at the college level. Angela also supports local organizations in the city of Delaware, including the strand Delaware County Humane Society, and other worthy causes. In her spare time, she enjoys gardening, crafting, and participates in three book clubs.
