Weltman, Weinberg & Reis Co., LPA

Mainly serving credit unions and banks, Jenna demonstrates poise and assertiveness in her litigation & complex collections solutions.

Jenna knew she wanted to become an attorney during the COVID-19 pandemic. Previously on a different career path, she reassessed her plans for the future and decided to go to law school during her junior year at the University of Southern California and got her J.D. at Case Western Reserve University School of Law.

Since that decision, she has been a law clerk at several established companies and worked her way up to passing the Ohio Admissions Bar. Now, an attorney at Weltman, she has applied her experiences and drive to the ever-changing firm and industry. Colleagues over the years have described Jenna as organized, collaborative, and determined.

In her spare time, she loves to travel. Her last trip was to Portugal with family after taking the bar exam. She also loves to make homemade pasta with her fiance on Sunday afternoons!
