

Tresina M. Dickens

Attorney

Chicago, IL
312.253.9621
tdickens@weltman.com

Weltman
Weltman, Weinberg & Reis Co., LPA

Tresina focuses her creditors' rights practice on helping clients navigate complex financial and legal challenges with professionalism, efficiency, and care.

Tresina provides thoughtful, solution-oriented advocacy designed to meet each client's unique objectives—whether assisting creditors in recovering funds, resolving disputes, or ensuring compliance with evolving regulations.

Her professional background includes both litigation and negotiation experience, as well as years of legal administrative work that strengthened her attention to detail, adaptability with new technologies, and collaboration with senior attorneys. She continues to refine her skills by staying engaged with advancements in legal technology and research to deliver practical, data-driven results.

Clients and colleagues describe Tresina as thoughtful, kind, and professional. She distinguishes herself by practicing gratitude and grace, emphasizing patience and positivity in a demanding field. Whether in the courtroom or at the negotiating table, Tresina is dedicated to achieving efficient, effective outcomes for her clients.

Outside the office, Tresina enjoys yoga and is currently exploring Pilates. She loves trying new foods and discovering new music, as well as traveling and sampling local specialties. At home, she spends time with her energetic Jackaranian, who brings plenty of joy and personality to her daily life.

Focus Areas

- Consumer Collections

Admissions

- Illinoi, 2024

Tresina M. Dickens

Weltman

Education

- J.D., Roger Williams University School of Law, 2021
- B.S., Political Science, Southern Illinois University, 2016

Affiliations

- Illinois State Bar Association: Member
- Chicago Bar Association: Member
- Cook County Bar Association: Member
- Women's Bar Association of Illinois: Member
- Black Women Lawyers' Association: Member
- McLean County Bar Association: Member