Passionate, detail-oriented, and caring, Keying (Chloe) approaches every case with diligence and a deep respect for the client experience.

Chloe is an attorney with a strong international background and a passion for serving clients with care, precision, and cultural awareness. Before becoming an attorney, she spent two years as a law clerk at Weltman, where she received hands-on training in compliance, collections, and the firm's client service standards. Combined with her academic foundation, Chloe brings a valuable blend of legal insight and business understanding to her work.

Chloe's path to the legal profession began early. Inspired by stories of justice and advocacy, she grew up reading books about lawyers, including To Kill a Mockingbird, and viewing Justice Ruth Bader Ginsburg as a role model. That early admiration shaped her commitment to becoming an attorney and instilled in her a deep respect for the power of legal representation. Today, colleagues describe her as passionate, detail-oriented, and caring—qualities that guide her approach to every case she handles.

In her practice, Chloe strives to distinguish herself through a dual focus on outcomes and the client experience. She believes that how clients feel throughout the legal process is just as important as the final result, and she approaches each matter with both expertise and empathy. Clients rely on her to navigate compliance and collections challenges, resolve complex issues, and provide clear, supportive guidance. Her global perspective and multicultural background further enhance her ability to connect with and serve a diverse range of clients.

Outside the office, Chloe enjoys staying active and spending quality time with the people (and pets) she loves. She frequently hikes with her energetic Australian Shepherd, Momo, and hosts regular game and movie nights with friends. A dedicated reader, she finds relaxation and inspiration in books of all kinds. Whether exploring a new trail or enjoying a quiet evening with a good story, Chloe brings the same curiosity, warmth, and balance to her life that she brings to her work.
