Tenyse has represented a wide range of clients, including major financial institutions, investors, and private individuals, providing strategic counsel and practical solutions tailored to each client's unique needs.

Tenyse brings extensive legal industry experience with a strong background in foreclosure and ancillary real estate matters.

Having appeared in thousands of cases, Tenyse is experienced in handling complex matters, arguing a variety of motions, and navigating challenging legal issues with confidence and precision. Her deep real estate experience, which began early in her legal career, has equipped her with a strong understanding of the industry and the ability to effectively advocate for her clients' interests.

Known for being resilient, knowledgeable, and personable, Tenyse approaches every matter with care, integrity, and respect. She is committed to balancing strong advocacy with a thoughtful, client-focused approach, helping clients address property and financial matters efficiently while ensuring their expectations are met. Clients value her strong work ethic, approachable nature, and ability to bring both professionalism and compassion to every engagement.

A Chicago native, Tenyse enjoys spending time with family, traveling, staying active through fitness classes, and finding balance through reading and meditation. She values kindness, integrity, and connection - principles that shape both her personal life and her practice.
