Quick to respond to her client's inquiries, Nathalie takes pride in her ability to provide superior client service.

Practicing exclusively in consumer collections, Nathalie provides her clients with a thorough approach to subrogation recovery, by counseling them through each step of the collection and litigation process. From preparing and reviewing all pleadings, to the initial complaint through discovery to judgment, she has successfully negotiated with clients, consumers, and opposing counsel to achieve a speedy and cost-effective resolution of cases, including the arrangement of legal settlements.

In her time away from the office, Nathalie is a frequent volunteer for Team in Training, a grassroots organization that raises funds for cancer research.
